

de Stolfe Journal ★★★ Broadsheets

Dad and I went to Jacksonville three times between 2020 and 2021, basically within a 12 month period. These photos are from the third trip in March 2021. This content is mainly of the beaches and the St. John's River.

I picked up this postcard while in Jacksonville Beach.

Jacksonville, Florida

This is downtown Jacksonville, Florida. Often called the River City, the St. Johns River runs right through the middle of the city/county.

Jacksonville Beach

Even on a cold, windy, dreary day, the beach was pleasant and salty!

Plenty of sand dunes and various grasses and wildflowers growing.

Florida Shell Shop

Any time you are in Florida, particularly the coasts or South Florida, you have to stop at a shell shop! These are stores to buy shells and various other kitchy Florida things. These stores buy the shells, they don't go get them off the beach! (There is a big market for this sort of thing.) In this case, this shop is the only shell shop in Jacksonville Beach. (Like I said, it is more common the more south in the state you go.) They sell shells individually and in bundles or baskets. No doubt, I got a bunch!

Plethora of shells at the shell shop!

The surf shop next door owned by the same people.

The Riverwalk along the St. John's River in Jacksonville, Florida

Sculpture of a sailor of the Jacksonville Navy Memorial, established in 1988.

Downtown Jacksonville, on the north bank. Jacksonville has 9 bridges of varying types.

de Stolfe Journal ★★★ Broadsheets

I hope you enjoy these de Stolfe Journal Broadsheets!

I started these broadsheets as a means to reduce the number of pages for the regular journal issues. (And let's face it, you don't have time to read 50+ pages of the regular journal when not every topic in them might be of interest to you!) My broadsheets are single topics of special interest in a horizontal page format and restricted to ten pages or less (usually).
